Willie Wildcat enters the Space Age!

Year III of this spectacular space age was rapidly drawing to its close as students entered the halls and classrooms of N. H. S. early September of 1959.

Interest in satellites, moon rockets, guided missiles, sputniks, and space ships was riding high. Men were preparing to make a trip to the moon. Everyone was becoming more space conscious and thoughts were turning toward a better and more scientific education.

U.S. Satellites had successfully orbited the Earth, others were in orbit around the sun, and near the end of Year III of this New Space Age, one rocket hit the moon.

Somewhere in this pattern of development will be found scientists whose feet once trod the halls of Newport High.

Practical benefits are bound to come from this Age of Space, especially in weather forecasting, communications, and navigation for rockets and missiles.

While all of this was going on, students at N. H. S. still found time to add fun to their lives. Willie Wildcat was pursuing his interest in space travel and insisted he would be the first "human" to orbit the moon.

Let us go with Willie as he observes his special interests and see what N. H. S. students were doing in this wonderful age of space.

In space, the lonely missile spins its way,
Beyond the earth's soft-breathing atmosphere,
Beyond the note of song, the wind's wild play,
The cumulus, the rain's recurrent tear;
Throughout the sky of orbits hung by One
Who saw His handiwork and called it good,
There moves this metal deed which man has done.

FACULTY

At the controls we find our principal and assistant principal, the deans and the teachers, all of which make up the faculty of Newport High School.

Now that space is the frontier of our lives, the education gained here will help to prepare us for this future life. Our school has one of the best teaching staffs for this space age—dedicated men and women who are willing to help us in every way and who want to see us obtain our goals—even if we don't always realize it.

The teachers help us not only in their own special fields, but also in the assemblies, clubs, and activities.

Through the work given to us by our teachers, we will learn to accept larger responsibilities for this future life in rockets and missiles.

The faculty here try to give us the tools of knowledge, co-operation, and the power of reasoning with which we can take our place in the Space Age.

Anderson D. Owens, Superintendent

Dr. Anderson D. Owens has been superintendent of the Newport public schools for the past 33 years. He is constantly alert to the problems and the growing needs of today's youth and tomorrow's adults. With the help of the Board of Education, Dr. Owens is meeting the needs of future education in Newport by construction of new building and additions to other already out grown ones. Improvements are also being added inside the other school plants of the city. The board of Education of Newport High School is an elective, civic group which serves without pay, and works with Dr. Owens on the administrative problems of the Newport public school system.

Since 1933 Mr. Cobb has been principal of Newport High School. Before this time he was a teacher and coach. His sports interest is plainly seen in school and out. Fishing, farming, horseback riding, and hunting with his bird dog, "Butch," also are favorites among his interests.

Mr. Cobb attended Georgetown College, University of Cincinnati, and received his A.B., B.S., and M.A. degrees.

Throughout school he is respected and admired by the students and faculty. Recognized as a truthful, loyal citizen, Mr. Cobb works for the betterment of our school in sportsmanship and conduct.

Fairness to all, is one of his most outstanding traits and it is confirmed by all who know him. He is an excellent leader and stands as a symbol of fairness and justice.

Miss Lillian Gilb
Secretary

Miss Lillian Gilb is the efficient secretary of our principal, Mr. James L. Cobb.

Being a friend to all who enter the office of the principal, she is well liked by all the students and faculty of Newport High. Although she works behind the scenes, the results of her work shine forth in the daily bulletin, student grade transcripts for college eligibility lists, and numerous other activities.

Miss Katherine E. Warren, Assistant Principal—B.S.

Miss Katherine E. Warren, a former commercial teacher at N.H.S., has been the assistant principal here for seven years.

As assistant principal she is in charge of the testing program which includes: Intelligence, Achievement, Aptitude, and Scholarship tests.

Besides that duty, she is the dean of the junior and senior girls, treasurer of the activity fund, and supervisor of the lunchroom.

Most juniors and seniors come to her when the question of college comes up, for Miss Warren has information on most of the colleges of this area and helps those who are interested in applying for scholarships.

All students appreciate her taking time out of her busy life to give them help and understanding.

These council and advise us

Miss Katherine Warren—B.S.

A warm and a friendly hello are a part of Miss Katherine E. Warren. As dean of junior and senior girls she not only keeps the absentee record but also acts as counselor to the girls by listening to both their school and personal problems with a wonderful understanding and often giving them suggestions which prove very beneficial.

Miss Warren received her bachelor of science degree from the University of Cincinnati and also attended the University of Kentucky and Ohio University.

Among her hobbies are collecting Hummels, photography, and travel.

A former graduate of Newport, Miss Jeannette Owens has assumed the duties of dean of the freshman and sophomore girls. Keeping absentee records is only a part of her duties, for she is also their counselor. Her pleasing personality is a helpful aid in talking over the girls' problems. Besides this responsibility she also teaches general science and health.

Cooking, doing fancy work and trying to teach her two parakeets to talk occupies the rest of her spare time.

She attended Ohio State University, University of Cincinnati and Transylvania College and received her A.B. degree, having majored in science.

Miss Jeannette Owens—A.B.

Mr. John Collins—A.B., M.A.

Newport High School's dean of boys, Mr. John Collins, has taught English and History here for the past seven years. His full time job as dean entails the responsibility for records of absence and tardiness for all boys. Mr. Collins may also be found taking time from his many activities to give advice and help on a variety of matters to those students who wish or need it. Besides his job of deanship he is an avid sports enthusiast, enjoying bowling, fishing, and golfing himself and he also likes to read and work in his garden. Mr. Collins attended University of Kentucky, Eastern, and Western.

Mr. George Painter, Director of Pupil Personnel—A.B., M.A.

Mr. George Painter, a former teacher, has been the director of pupil personnel since 1954. As the director he keeps records of attendance of all the pupils of the Newport Public School System. He must check on absentees and see that all children are enrolled in school and attending regularly. Keeping a continuous census of every boy and girl in Newport between the ages of 6 and 18 is also his responsibility. He also sends transfers to districts that receive the parents or the children who do not comply with the compulsory attendance laws; he is required to make a monthly and annual report of all his activities to the school board and superintendent; and he also makes quarterly and annual reports to the State Department of Education. Mr. Painter received his A.B. degree from Moorehead and his Masters from the University of Cincinnati.

English is an ever important subject

The six teachers composing the English department strived to make the students of N.H.S. realize the demands that these times of keen competition make on a person for a good command of English.

Classes were never boring since a great variety of phases in English were taught. Literature may have found students studying the works of Dickens, Shakespeare, Wordsworth, and Longfellow, or many other famous authors. Each student was required to make eight reports a year on books of their own choice unless a book was specified by the teacher. Time was also spent learning the proper way to do reference and extemporaneous types of writing and speaking.

Fine Arts

Singing provides enjoyment for the performer and the listener. The chorus of N.H.S. provided much of the music used by the school in various assemblies and other civic activities.

During the half time performances at the football games you may have seen the Wildcat Marching Band strutting across the field led by a corps of majorettes. And the band members doing a dance while playing their instruments. The band also provided the music for the assemblies and the pep rallies.

At Newport High School we have teachers of Spanish and Latin. These teachers, through much travel and work, have become two of the most interesting foreign language teachers in Northern Kentucky.

One of the extra-curricular studies at N.H.S. is Art. Our Art Department did many interesting things such as painting pictures on the windows of various dept. stores during the holiday seasons, painting views from the classroom windows and making Christmas cards from linoleum blocks.

Here we receive training for everyday life

Home Arts at Newport was taught by Miss Ruth Harris and Miss Joann Geverts.

This year, for the first time, Miss Harris's second year students were taught Home Nursing by Mrs. C. Pandorff from the American Red Cross. During the three-week course they learned many things about taking care of the sick at home. The girls were also taught what to do in case of an emergency such as flash floods, bombing, or a hazardous fire.

Home Arts also teaches everything else that goes with everyday living, such as sewing, cooking, and home management. The lessons learned well in this field will be greatly appreciated in the not too distant future, when the girls find themselves trying to raise families and manage homes of their own.

Industrial Arts plays a very important part in the training of some of the young men at Newport High. They learn about different tools and machinery and the many ways in which to use them. They also learn the art of mechanical drawing.

This year the Industrial Arts Department has two new teachers, Mr. Fannin who teaches the boys woodwork and leathercraft, and Mr. Beach who teaches mechanical drawing.

Here are fields with a future in this new age

In this modern age mathematics and science are becoming more essential in assisting reason by the stimulus of the imagination. Both math and science are needed to insure protection to the people and the country as a whole. They are also becoming a great necessity in obtaining good jobs.

This year as in other years, Newport has a fine group of teachers in the field of mathematics and science. It is hoped that in the future Newport High will continue to meet the needs of the students as it has in the past.

Secretaries train to meet new demands

A variety of subjects offered by the Commercial Course stimulated interest among boys as well as girls this past year. During their four years the pupils were required to take Bookkeeping, Business Economics, Selling, Business Law, Typing, and Shorthand.

Our capable staff of commercial teachers composed of Miss Mary Tanner, Miss Gypsy Grey, Miss Alice Witteried, Miss Bernice Culbertson, and Mr. Jack Turner provided the guidance and inspiration needed to prepare these commercial students for the many secretarial, stenographic, bookkeeping, and other jobs offered in this Space Age.

Physical Education builds required endurance

Coach Stanley Arnzen has been an inspiring leader in the Boys' Physical Education program for 15 years at Newport High. During the required two years of Physical Education and one year of health which was an added requirement this year the boys received his direction and help in various activities. They learned many different exercises, such as push-ups and trunk twisters, enjoyed playing a variety of games such as Basketball and Softball, and also found time for the well-liked trampoline.

This year the Girls' Physical Education and Health Classes, G.A.A., and Cheerleading were under the leadership of Miss Elizabeth Foster. In the required two years of Physical Education the girls are taught how to play Volleyball and Basketball, which build good sportsmanship. Learning the art of doing tricks on a trampoline and exercises which build good co-ordination are also included. Health teaches students how to cope with some of their personality problems and also teaches First Aid. Through the Health classes Miss Foster helped the girls with personality problems and taught them First Aid.

STUDENTS

The student body for 1959-60 was made up of many kinds, different in most respects, but alike in one—they were here supposedly to learn.

As the year progressed the seniors had mixed feelings about leaving. They remembered all the projects and activities they had taken part in and all the memories collected here. As graduation approached some found it was too late to send back for their books—they either knew it now or they didn't.

The juniors elected officers, entertained the Seniors at the Prom, and received their class rings. They were preparing for next year.

Although the Sophomores didn't do too much, they had an advisor and elected class officers for the first time in the school's history.

A mass of anxiety and confusion best described the freshmen. They were anxious to begin a new and different year but changing classes and locating rooms added to the chaos of their experience.

The Future Is Ours and all that We Make it

This year 130 people have walked the halls of Newport High proudly bearing the title of Senior. They look fondly back on these last four years but eagerly toward the future.

The class of 1960 began officially when 233 eager, excited, and somewhat shy freshmen registered as students of Newport High. The actual organization of the class started with the election of sophomore homeroom officers and the first class project—a rummage sale. The Junior year was headed by the election of Junior Class officers and the appointing of homeroom representatives who handled the business of that important year. The ambition to have one of the best proms ever, led to hard work at many of the usual projects of selling, plus the presentation of the first Junior Class Play at Newport High. These efforts were well rewarded when the Seniors were successfully entertained at Music Hall Ballroom in May 1959. As September dawned, they began the last of their four year stay at Newport High School assuming the added responsibility of school leadership. After the election of Senior Class officers, plans were made to fulfill their financial duties. The year sped by with many senior activities such as the class play, picnic and class night and climaxed with graduation—the launching pad to the future.

Still Seeking Knowledge Infinite

Through hard work and with the helpful advice of Mr. Steve Bush, the Junior Class realized one of their ambitions on the night of April 8th at the fabulous Music Hall Ballroom where the Junior-Senior Prom of 1960 was held. The fun just began for many Juniors as a hayride and breakfast, following the prom, occupied the rest of the "morning."

Everyone will admit that besides a lot of arduous work, it also took a convincing sales line to raise the necessary funds. By selling everything from candy, wrapping paper, and cans of snow, to annual covers, dog tags, sponsoring dances in the gym, and bake sales, the Junior Class demonstrated their talents in salesmanship.

Besides working for themselves, the Junior Class sold Christmas Cards, part of the profit of which helped to finance the annual crib scene.

One of the most significant events was the day the class received their long and anxiously awaited class rings.

The Junior Class of 1960 worked hard to achieve their goals. Not only was the year financially prosperous, but as in their two previous years of high school, the class acquired knowledge and an inspiration to make the class of '61 one of the very best.

Junior Class Officers: Jim McLaughlin, President; Rebecca Stuart, Secretary; Ronald Storn, Vice-President; and Mike Stull, Treasurer.

ACTIVITIES

A desire to learn was expressed by the students in their willingness to take part in various activities and club work.

While ideas roamed through space, the realization of work to be accomplished kept at least one foot on the ground. There were clubs to take an active part in, musical activities, assemblies, Prom, and many, many, others.

The Chorus and band provided musical entertainment all through the school year. The Junior and Senior Classes each had their plays which were successful. The whole student body was able to participate in the special assemblies at Christmas and Easter time.

The experiences we gain through participation in the various clubs and activities forms the foundation of our social future.

the Student Council

The government of Newport High School is helped a great deal by the Student Council, which consists of one representative and one alternate from each home room.

Led by President Hal Smith, and advisor Mr. Howard Barnett, the Student Council members really work hard all year.

Their main project was to collect money to buy toys for needy children at Christmas time. Other projects included decorating the Christmas tree at the main entrance, collecting funds for the Junior Red Cross, and filling Red Cross boxes with school supplies and personal items for needy children overseas.

The members of the Student Council were chosen on a basis of scholarship, ability to express themselves, and citizenship.

The Council discussed problems and suggestions brought to it by various members from their home rooms during the school year.

All in all, the Student Council is one of the hardest working organizations in the school.

Annual staff visualizes NHS preparing for future

With all the talk of space travel this year, the Newportian staff decided to base the 1960 Newportian on "The Space Age."

This year the staff consisted of 42 members, made up of a select group of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. Darlene Brady, 1960 editor, did a very excellent job of planning the schedule of work to be accomplished on the annual, assisted by the annual's sponsor, Mrs. Leila M. Peak.

The staff began work in the summer months, selling ads for the football program and yearbook to various business places and other loyal supporters of Newport High.

The 1960 staff sold the most ads since 1944 of which they are justly proud.

Due to the shorter school term, normal preparation and work was necessarily hastened. This was a challenge which was successfully met and conquered by a hard working staff which assembled, identified and labeled pictures; wrote articles concerning the various activities and projects. Working together, they organized all material into a well prepared annual in sufficient time for the press.

When the yearbook was finally completed the staff felt two things: Relief and Pride. The feeling that the task was really completed and well done—The Newportian of 1960.

Newporter records current events at NHS

This year, the school paper, provided the student body of Newport High School with information about the various activities which took place during the school year. Under the supervision of Mrs. Leila M. Peak, the editor Garnet Worthington, assisted by the staff of approximately thirty-five students prepared the periodic issues of the Newporter. It was the job of the reporters to find news, follow it up, and report on it. The aid of Jeff Miller and Earl Watson, photographers, was often requested to help with the pictures for their articles. Details were obtained from the office, the coaches, or the club sponsors.

The various sports events were covered, edited, and laid out by co-editors of the sports page, James McLaughlin and Terry Lehmann.

The final issue, dedicated to the Senior Class, had the will, history, prophecy, and schedule of programs for graduation. The seven issues can be reviewed to recall the year of 1959-1960 by every N. H. S. student.

High ideals for the leaders of tomorrow

Thirty-seven members in the Pi Epsilon Pi Chapter of the National Honor Society were sponsored by Miss Mary M. Tanner.

Students were eligible if they had attained a "B" average for two and a half years of high school. This year they were also graded on leadership and character. Students who had maintained these high standards were awarded a pin symbolizing Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service.

Initiation for the pledges was held in April. The pledges were required to dress up as various fictional and historical characters. They also had to carry the books and lunch trays of the members. At the end of the day a party was held in the west study hall and various teachers voted on the most authentic historical character which was Bob Neal, as Sitting Bull and the most authentic fictional character which was Jay Smith, as Ichabod Crane.

The club had many worthwhile service projects such as sending cards and baskets of fruit and cookies to shut-ins and underprivileged people.

Officers for the year were: President, Hal Smith; Vice-President, Bob Lape; Treasurer, Rosella Lang; and Secretary, Bonnie Crawford.

Valuable assistants lighten secretary's load

Senior girls made up the bigger part of the office staff who helped Miss Lillian Gilb, secretary to Mr. Cobb, with her many duties.

In order to become an assistant, one must be willing to relinquish one study period, but the girls are provided with their own desk and if it becomes necessary there can always be found some time to study.

Since the new inter-communication system was installed in the school, the duties of the girls were reduced somewhat, but it was still their job to deliver the daily bulletin, answer the telephone, and run errands.

Although the girls worked, they enjoyed their job very much and it was also quite beneficial to them because they were able to learn how a competent office is run and just what duties a secretary must perform.

Films coordinate for better classroom study

Below: Carl Tilford, Kenny Riffe, and Charles Adkinson set up equipment for the movie.

Hard work mixed with pleasure aroused keen interest in the Visual Aids which proved one of the most popular clubs at N. H. S. this year.

Activities of the year included the training of new members and securing and showing films. The members also enjoyed operating the projectors and seeing the different selections of movies as they were shown.

Ken Riffe and Carl Tilford were the head men of the organization. Their routine included making out the schedule and choosing the Visual Aids students to show them. After the films were shown to the classes, they were repaired, and sent promptly to their respective places.

At the end of the year awards were presented. The second year students received a small pin in the shape of a projector. The third year students, a guard and chain and fourth year students a key with their initial.

Mr. Lyle Haggard, who has sponsored the organization for 3 years, expanded the club to 40 students. As sponsor he had many duties which included; ordering the films, repairing broken projectors, replacing bulbs and answering requests of the teachers.

Explore! All the world is in a book

In the middle of the first semester, extra desks, display cases, and bookshelves from Ninth Street School were added to the Library. As a result, the main desk for checking out was moved to the center of the division between the two rooms, with another desk directly behind it. During the busy period of the day the main desk was used for paying fines and checking in and renewing books while at the smaller desk books could be checked out. The original location of the main desk was filled with shelves containing books on reserve.

With all of these changes the librarian, Miss Mary E. Morris, and the staff tried to be of greater service to the faculty and students.

A system of rotation was introduced into the Pen Pal club this year. Marilyn Hilge and Garnet Worthington, the senior members of the club worked together, each officiating as president once a month.

Miss Hazel Girvin permitted the group to meet at her home before the Christmas holidays for a party. At this time they enjoyed a pot luck supper followed by making Christmas cards and planning the Christmas assembly.

Activities included lectures on foreign lands given at the Cincinnati Library and Art Museum; visiting different restaurants enabled the members to taste various foreign foods; and touring famous landmarks of Cincinnati gave the members a better understanding of the city so that they could describe these places to their Pen Pals.

Experience is gained in human relations

"The future is ours and all that we make it," might be coined the unwritten motto of the F.T.A. As members of this club, students plan ahead and delve into the future to make sure that their chosen profession will be teaching.

Joyce Johnson, Helen Pence, Bonnie Mary Crawford, and Marilyn Hilge served as leaders of the group. Under their leadership special programs were prepared for each month's meeting.

At the end of the year each member toured a school of his choice, observing the different ways of teaching and the various types of school administration.

National Education Week was observed with an apple for each teacher, trying in a small way to show their gratitude to the teachers for having inspired them to follow in their footsteps.

The Bible holds the answers for the future

During this age when scientists were seeking the mysteries of outer space with their satellites, the Bible Club was seeking the timeless truths of the Bible.

Officers for the club this year were: President, Donna Banfield; Vice-President, Helen Pence; Manager, Frank Burris; and quiz captain, Joyce Johnson. With the guidance of Mr. Howard Barnett, sponsor, and the officers the club moved onward toward new horizons.

Members were also active in the Greater Cincinnati Youth For Christ Rally held each Saturday night. Some of the rallies were held at the Y.W.C.A., the Church of the Covenant in Cincinnati, and aboard the Johnson Party Boat. At these rallies the quiz team participated in competition with neighboring schools.

Two representatives of the organization attended the International Teen Convention in Washington, D. C. during the Christmas Holidays. They had the privilege of meeting with Vice-President Nixon and World Famous Evangelist, Billy Graham. Thousands of Y. F. C. members from all nations in the world attended the convention sharing ideas and plans for their clubs.

In the prayer periods each morning, the Bible Club members were seeking to obtain power through prayer for the world of the future . . . This Space Age.

Mr. and Miss Newport High

"Mr. Newport" was a title well deserved by Hal Smith who was President of his Junior and Senior Classes, Honor Society, and Student Council. He was well known as a member of the track and basketball team for four years and was basketball captain in his Senior year. Chosen for outstanding personality and ability, he represented N. H. S. at Boys' State.

"Miss Newport" was just one of the many honors bestowed upon Chris Lepper. Well known as a head majorette, she was also Secretary of her Senior Class and Vice President of G.A.A. Chris received two honors enjoyed by few girls, a representative of N. H. S. at Girls' State and an attendant for the 1960 Prom.

Most Likely To Succeed

To obtain her nurse's cap is the goal Lois Berkemeyer, voted the girl most likely to succeed, has set for herself. She has been a nurse's aid at Booth Hospital for 3 years and intends to go into nurse's training.

Her grades of straight A's with a few B's won for her a three weeks scholarship from the National Science Foundation.

Bill Knapp, a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Contest, showed why he was chosen most likely to succeed by attaining a 99% or better on the test required in his Freshman and Junior years.

After graduation he plans to enter the University of Cincinnati, obtain a graduate degree in pharmacology, and secure a position in a drug company as a research scientist.

Most Talented

Well-known Sally Daines, voted the most talented Senior girl, has been a cheerleader for four years, a participant in the Newport High Minstrel for three years, and a Junior High Band member. She developed her talents with ten years of dancing lessons and two years of piano. Sally's various talents helped her in church activities, such as dancing in the church minstrel and singing in the youth choir.

A great honor was well deserved by Jay Smith as he was chosen by the seniors as the most talented boy. Jay has been in the Newport Band for six years and has taken saxophone lessons for three years, flute lessons for four years, and clarinet lessons for about a year. Jay also belongs to a band called the Hi-Notes which played for the Senior Class Play.

Most Athletic

Kathy Campbell was everybody's choice as the most athletic girl. A member of G. A. A. all four years, she served on its Board in her sophomore and junior years, and as a senior was president of the organization. She was also on the varsity basketball, volleyball, and baseball teams. Last summer Kathy showed her athletic ability and love of outdoors by camping in the mountains.

A quick look back through the last four years of sports at Newport High will easily show why Richard Lienhardt was chosen most athletic boy. He played basketball for two years and was on the football and track teams for four years. His Junior year honors included being chosen most alert defensive football player, winning the 100-yard low hurdle at the State track meet, and obtaining track and swimming medals.

The 1959 Prom! a Moment to Remember

While scientists dreamed of going to the moon, the girls at Newport High School dreamed of the Junior and Senior Prom. Many were attending a Prom for the first time. The big moment arrived when Darlene Brady reigned as Queen of the 1960 Prom at the Music Hall Ballroom with Sally Daines, Rebecca Howard, Christine Lepper, and Sally Seibert as her attendants.

As the hour struck nine, couples began their night of dancing to the music of Will Hauser's Orchestra. Highlighting the evening was the crowning of Queen Darlene by the Junior Class president, Jim McLaughlin. This event had been eagerly anticipated by all for the past three hours. Proudly they led the procession in the Grand March which seemed to be the climax of a night, long to be remembered.

After Hard Work and Long Practice, They Take To The Air

"Down to Earth," the first Junior Class Play to be given at Newport, was full of humor and quiet charm. Somewhere between heaven and earth two angels and a hitch hiker were descending to pick up a couple of elderly souls. Pelone, the would-be angel, causes the other two, Agnes and Wilfred, no end of trouble.

Agnes plans to take Augusta Applegate, a wealthy, miserly, and sarcastic spinster, who doesn't want to leave her wealth to the relatives, while Wilfred has an eye on Herman Howell, a kind old retired sailor, who has nothing to live for but his cat Manuel and is quite ready to go.

Surrounding Augusta are her relatives eagerly awaiting her death so they can inherit her money. June Bromsley, who is engaged to Richard asks her Aunt Gus for a loan of $10,000 and receives the short answer, NO.

Flying objects and mysterious occurrences are all attributed to Pelone, who manages to make three couples fall in love. At the right time he mischievously manipulates Augusta's savings so that she gives it away.

Everything turns out fine when Augusta decides that all she wants is Herman and the two angels to get back to heaven by taking Pelone and Augusta's maid, Diana who qualify as angels.

As the curtains opened on November 21 in the school auditorium, the Senior Class of 1960 presented "Onions In the Stew." Mr. William Brinkman directed the three-act comedy by William Dalzell, taken from the book of the same name, written by Betty McDonald.

The story concerned the MacDonald family who had just moved from Seattle to Vashon Island. Their two teen-age daughters thought it was terrible and kept hoping that the family would soon move back to the city away from the "desolate island" as they called it. Some of the many problems which were encountered were unexpected guests, a snow storm which completely isolated them, and constant trouble with their plumbing.

Despite these misfortunes—when the family had planned to sell their house, they suddenly realized how much the island meant to them and decided to stay.

Voices raised for special occasions

This year the Newport High School Chorus consisted of 58 girls directed by Miss Janice Robbins. Even though the school year was shorter, the chorus still took part in many exciting activities.

Red blazers were sported by the chorus members, along with black skirts and white blouses. These were worn to all the programs in which the Newport High School Chorus took part. In this way, not only was everyone dressed alike, but everyone was wearing the Newport High School colors.

Besides taking part in the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter assemblies at the high school, the chorus sang Christmas carols around the Christmas tree on the main floor of the school, sang at the First Baptist Church for their Thanksgiving service, and at various P.T.A. meetings.

A vocal clinic was held for the chorus members of various Northern Kentucky High Schools. After several days of practicing according to sections, (soprano, alto, base, tenor), everyone assembled to cut a special record.

Several girls were chosen to represent Newport High School in the ALL-STATE CHORUS gathering at Lexington, Kentucky.

The Chorus Concert was held in the spring. Instead of being formal, as it used to be, the girls wore their red blazers with black skirts and white blouses. Even though the chorus sang for graduation, the concert really brought an end to another year of fun and hard work.

NHS tuned up for music

Mr. Fred H. Wilcoxon, Director.

This year the band, under the direction of Mr. Fred H. Wilcoxon, started off with what they thought was a bang. With the money they had made from the minstrel, and other efforts, the decision was made not to go to band camp, but to go to all the away games and to practice every day in August at the stadium.

Practice began bright and early the first day of August. It was slow work and sometimes boring, practicing every day, but all in all, the band shaped up and by the first football game, they were ready to roll.

About mid-season the band, including the junior high and grade schools, and the marjorettes sold candy. With the help and supervision of the Band Boosters, the candy drive was a big success.

Near the end of the season, the talk of the band was their long trips. Louisville was the first and they left the school at 6:30 in the morning, going first to the University of Kentucky in Lexington where they enjoyed a concert at the Coliseum, given by the United States

Navy Band. After lunch and a practice on U.K.'s practice field, they were on their way to Louisville, and the Newport-Louisville Shawnee game. Ashland was the second trip and a sad one for many, because for fourteen seniors it was the last time they would ever march at a football game with the N. H. S. Band.

Mr. Wilcoxon and the band were elated when Mr. Cobb accepted an invitation for the band to march in the Inaugural Parade, at Frankfort, Kentucky, on December eight. This was a big thrill and thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

In addition to their enthusiastic director, the band is supported in all their efforts by the Band Boosters Association. The aim of this group, parents of the band members, has always been to help the young people of the band to obtain higher ideals and better school spirit and to aid in solution of band problems.

Officers for 1959-'60 were Mr. Thomas Cosner, President; Mrs. Dorothy Neil, Vice-President; Mrs. Charles Dailey, Secretary; and Mrs. Raymond Chalk, Treasurer.

When you think of the Newport High School Marching Band, you must think of the majorettes. Led by head majorettes Penny Ebert and Christie Lepper, the girls twirled and did many dances, including a Hiwaiian and an Indian dance. The majorettes had new hats and plumes. Their hats sparkled with red while the new plumes were white. Something else new was added at the last two games . . . they wore long black stockings . . . to keep warm, of course.

Talents Displayed in Wildcats "59

The Wildcats of '59 went on a cruise "Around the World in 80 Days," visiting London, France, Italy, China, Hawaii, and our Latin American neighbors. Back in the USA, the blues were. wailed from way down south, along with other American songs. Many hours of hard work and rehearsals went into the making of the show. Then that big night arrived and dancing, singing and comedy combined to make the minstrel entertaining for the audience as well as fun for the cast.

The Newport High School Band directed by Mr. Fred H. Wilcoxin furnished the music for the two big nights. Besides directing the band, Mr. Wilcoxin worked long, hard hours originating and producing the minstrel.

ATHLETICS

Just as the astronauts were briefed and prepared for their great jobs, we learned to meet the unexpected in life by participation in sports. We learned good sportsmanship, self-coordination, and the techniques of playing the game right.

Here, at Newport, we found a well rounded program of sports that the student body could take part in. Although the space age changed many things, our sports remained the same. Our space explorers of tomorrow still played football, basketball, baseball, and many others. They supplied everyone with wholesome fun and encouraged the spirit of competition.

Wildcat spirit flew high all year and the student body really supported the teams. The intramural teams of the different clubs also provided much fun.

All of these activities helped to develop their bodies so that they would be ready for their journey into this vast unknown space.

Football team in rebuilding stage

This year the Newport "Wildcats" were under the guidance of a new group of coaches. Mr. P. L. (Bear) Hamlett, Jr., the only returning member of last year's group, served in a new position—that of head coach. He was ably assisted by Mr. Jack Carey, along with Mr. Charles True and Mr. Jack Turner.

In the opening game, Newport chewed up Campbell County to start the season right, with a very fine victory. However, the second game of the season, against Dayton, proved to be a heartbreaker. Up against a very fine team, Newport felt its first taste of defeat. The 'Cats lone touchdown was made by Rodney Gross on a pass from John Williams, on the opening kickoff. After a scoreless second quarter, Dayton scored in the third and the fourth to clinch the victory.

When it came time for the annual city championship game, Newport was at full strength for the first time. With a will to win and an undauntable desire for victory, the 'Cats defeated their intra city rivals—Newport Catholic Thoroughbreds—and retained the city trophy for the second year. Touchdowns were scored by Scharstein and Stull, Gross accounted for both conversions.

In one of the better games of the season the mighty 'Cats walloped Hamilton Taft at Hamilton, Ohio. This was the only game in which Newport was confronted by Ohio's rules which are slightly different from Kentucky's.

After this fine game came a crushing defeat, at the hands of Highland's "Bluebirds," making Newport's record, three wins to two losses. Then, with what might be termed a surprise, Bellevue dumped Newport in a well-played game. This was followed by another loss, this time to Dixie Heights to set Newport's record at three won and four lost.

In a well-played game, Newport broke back into the win column with a terrific victory over Louisville Shawnee. Fullback Vic Scharstein sparked the Newport team with a pair of touchdowns; with three others scored by Gaskins, Lienhardt, and Williams. The victory was short-lived though, for the following week the Wildcats were set back by a hard-fighting Holmes team. This marked the 41st renewal of the Covington-Newport gridiron rivalry. During the span of years, from 1918, Holmes has been victorious 25 times, Newport 15 and the 1934 clash ended in a 6-6 deadlock. In the final game of the season Newport lost to the very powerful Ashland "Tomcats." This gave Newport's Red-and-Black a season record of four wins and six loses.

After losing three out of their first five outings, the 1959 Wildcats bounced back to a respectable 8-6 record. Losing to Elder by a score of 4-1 and a 1-0 heartbreaker to Covington Catholic, Newport then beat Holmes and shut out Campbell County. Traveling to Highlands, the Cats were outslugged 18-10. During the remainder of the year, the rugged Newport team beat Lloyd 9-3 and 9-4, and lost 2-1 in District Tourney play. Against their arch-rival, Newport Catholic, the Wildcats split 4-2, 1-2. Holmes, Dayton, and Covington Catholic were also victims of the Cats of Newport.

The leading batter was Ken Pigg with .447 average. Other strong stickmen were Doug Jourdan, Jim Bird, and Charles Walton. Marv Farrar led the team in runs batted in, with 11 and Doug Jourdan was runner-up, with 9 runners chased across.

Ken Pigg and Larry Sprinkle were the chief pitchers and during the year Pigg pitched two shut-outs.

WILDCAT BASKETBALL

Below: Mr. Stanley Arnzen shows Mr. Burton some new Wildcat strategy.

Despite a first-division finish in NKAC activity, the 1959-'60 Newport High School Wildcats suffered their poorest season coached by basketball coach Stanley Arnzen. This year's team was captained by Harold Smith, the only senior member in the starting line-up. Costly mistakes and untimely errors contributed to a poor overall regular season record of 14 wins and 11 losses. In the pre-season predictions the 'Cats were rated as a second division team.

The Newport five was surprised by Boone County, for their first opening game loss since 1946. Hal Smith turned in the best effort with 11 points. The 'Cats then coasted to two easy victories over Beechwood and Highlands. In the Beechwood battle the attack was led by Hal Smith with 20 points and LaMont McClain with 15. In the game with the Cake Eaters, Sprinkle and Smith paced the scoring. The NHS crew then slipped past Erlanger Lloyd 67-64 on a 26 point effort by Captain Hal Smith. They were next defeated by Clark County, who was then the number one team in the state.

Following a quick win over the Devils of Dayton, the Newport five was romped over by four highly rated teams—Western Hills, Louisville Flaget, Louisville Manual, and Ashland. The two games with the Louisville teams were part of the action of the Pikeville Christmas Tournament. Leroy Turner and Larry Sprinkle were named to the tourney all-star team.

Playing at home for the first time in 1960, the 'Cats scored sweet revenge with a 60-53 victory over the Rebels of Boone County. After this pleasant and important victory Newport lost a thriller to Newport Catholic and another close one to Louisville Manual. In both games Smith led the scoring. Back into winning form the Newport cagers scored a victory of 71-56 over Covington Holmes. Sprinkle dropped in 26 markers to lead the cause.

After swamping Ludlow 99-76, which was the 'Cats hottest night of the season (hitting 42 out of 67 from the floor), the 'Cats slipped by Covington Catholic 51-49 in a real squeaker. The 'Cats then mauled Dilce Combs, Hazard, and Dixie in quick order. The next game decided the conference championship. In this hard fought conflict, Newport was soundly thumped by the Camels of Campbell County before an overflow crowd. Larry Sprinkle's 27 points were in vain as the final score read 86-73 in favor of the Camels. Coach Arnzen's cagers then ripped the Bulldogs of Holmes for the second time in less than a month. Charles Pate, sophomore guard, had 20 points to pace all scoring. The next contest proved fatal as the 'Cats lost to Bellevue 67-57 to lose their bid for second place in the Northern Kentucky Conference. The last two home games were successful as the 'Cats downed Highlands and ambushed the Simon Kenton pioneers. Closing on a sour note the boys lost to Maysville 74-61, even though busloads of N.H.S. students made the journey to cheer them on.

In the first game of the 35th district tournament, the 'Cats gained a regional berth with a cliff-hanging 67-66 win over Bellevue Tigers. Leroy Turner put on a one-man show scoring 29 points including 24 markers in the first half. In the finals of district play the Intracity rivals, Newport Catholic, were victorious in a thrilling over-time contest, winning the District Championship by a score of 64-61. However, as runners-up, Newport Wildcats advanced to regional play, drawing the Warriors from William Grant for their first encounter.

Sparked by the brilliant scoring of senior Hal Smith and valuable team play of the other 'Cats, the final score was 55-46 in favor of the 'Cats.

Due to heavy snowfall in the Northern Kentucky Region, quarter-final play in the lower bracket was postponed and Newport met their semi-final rivals, the little Colonels from Dixie Heights, in the first game of a double header on Friday, March 11. Dixie proved a little too much for Newport, winning a hard played contest 59-57. This eliminated the Wildcats from tournament play and brought the 1959-'60 season to a close.

The Camels from Alexandria were Ninth Region victors and went on to represent Northern Kentucky in State play. Newport placed two men on the Regional All-Tournament teams. Forward Hal Smith and Guard Larry Sprinkle.

Cindermen at NHS

"Run the soreness in, then run it out." This old adage used by Coach Edwin Burton, is heard every year by Newport Cindermen, who know that track is very good for building speed, stamina, and endurance.

Richard Lienhardt, who tied a regional record and took first place in the State Track Meet for running the low hurdles, led the Newport thinlies to a mediocre season.

Other accomplishments were: Tom Simpson pole vaulted ten feet and placed third in State; Vic Scharstein ran the 220-yard dash in 0:23.8, which tied a school record; Bill Knapp ran the 880-yard run in 2:12.9; and Richard Lienhardt went over the 180-yard low hurdles in 0:23.2, to set a school record.

Also outstanding were Hal Smith who ran the high hurdles, and the 880-yard relay combination of Rodney Gross, Dennis Brown, Vic Scharstein, and Richard Lienhardt who competed for state honors.

The freshman team, paced by the all-around capabilities of Bill Schwartz, was undefeated in regular season competition.

Golf team enjoys best season

Below: Carl Tilford explains the techniques of handling a golf club to Jack Knock.

"Fore," the traditional cry of the golf course was heard shouted in the spring of 1959 by Wildcat golfers as they met competition from other Northern Kentucky high school golfers.

The Wildcats showed very well against teams from Highlands, Holmes, Dixie, Covington Catholic, Saint Henry, Saint Thomas, Erlanger-Lloyd, and Beechwood. The team played at all Northern Kentucky golf courses, including Devou Fields and Twin Oaks public courses, and Highland, Summit Hills, and Fort Mitchell country clubs. The matches were played under Match Play rules, which put each of the four men on one team against the corresponding player of the other team. A free practice session was held during K. E. A. week with the season beginning the following week.

A regional tournament was held at Twin Oaks with Ted Dansberry, Carl Tilford, Bill Seibert, Ralph Hopkins, and Del Hatfield attending. The state tournament was held at Fort Knox; attending were Carl Tilford and Ted Dansberry who was captain and high score of the team. To be eligible for state, an individual contestant must have a total score of 170 or less, for the 36 holes. Fifty-four holes are played the two days, 36 holes are played to qualify and the remaining 18 for the championship. Coached by Mr. Howard Barnett the team showed four losses and four wins having its best season ever.

Leading in spirit and building morale

Leading in spirit and building morale were Newport's cheerleaders. These girls, wearing their red and black, were seen at every football and basketball game cheering their team to victory.

At the beginning of August of each summer you can find these girls down at the football stadium, bright and early, where they practice to prepare themselves for the season's sports. Here, they learn new cheers and ways of working together to form a better squad.

In September of last year they attended a clinic held at the University of Kentucky and directed by Mr. Lawrence Herkimer. Cheerleaders from all over the state were there and were taught better ways of getting the crowd to cheer and new ways to make up and conduct a pep rally.

The varsity cheerleaders were privileged to follow the football team to Louisville Shawnee and a victorious game. Miss Elizabeth Foster, their sponsor, drove them down and they stayed at the Kentucky Hotel where they had a wonderful, never-to-be-forgotten time.

Various mascots of rival schools and decorations were placed throughout the school by these girls before important games. They also sold slogan ribbons throughout the year to help boost school spirit and to help pay for summer camps.

In May, tryouts for varsity cheerleaders for the coming year were held. Only reserve and past varsity cheerleaders were eligible. Women from neighboring colleges select the girls on many qualities including ability, character, poise, and appearance. Their grades are then checked and the girls must be approved by the office. After passing these requirements the new varsity cheerleaders are chosen.

Reserve cheerleaders were chosen in October by the Advisor. They too had to possess certain qualities including, ability, character, poise, and appearance. Their grades were also checked and they had to maintain eligibility.

GAA brings fun thru recreation

Below: G.A.A. Officers—Sally Seibert, treasurer; Christie Lepper, vice president; Sally Daines, secretary; and Kathy Campbell, president.

This year the Girls' Athletic Association had its largest membership. Each year more girls are becoming interested in the fine athletic program offered by the association. Membership was open to any girl who was passing in three academic subjects and had a keen desire in learning about and participating in sports. They also learned fair play, teamwork, and good sportsmanship.

The club was governed by the legislative board which consisted of: two managers for each sport, the treasurer, secretary, vice-president, and the president. The board was under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Foster, the sponsor.

The sports in which the members participated this year were: volleyball, bowling, basketball, swimming, ping-pong, shuffleboard, and softball. A varsity and reserve team was organized to play other schools in volleyball, basketball, and softball.

If a girl attended seventy-five percent of the time in each sport she received an award. The awards: first year, 250 points, a G. A. A. pin; second year, 500 points, a G. A. A. bracelet; third year, 750 points a G. A. A. letter; and fourth year, 1200 points, a G. A. A. trophy. Keys were presented to the winning intramural teams and outstanding players. All of the keys and awards were presented at the annual mother-daughter banquet in the spring.

A blazer is presented to the most outstanding senior each year on Awards Day. This senior is selected by vote of the entire G. A. A. membership.

The Pep Club was composed of 90 girls of which 15 were alternates. Officers this year were: Captain, Carol Caudill; Co-Captain, Carol Hill; and Secretary and Treasurer, Lois Berkemeyer. Miss Elizabeth Foster was the sponsor, but withdrew and the club was taken over by Mrs. Stella Nichols.

Since the club was smaller this year, it was in the formation of a big red "N" replacing last year's "Cats."

The club worked hard this year. Their most important function was the complete support they gave as they yelled for the "Wildcats," Win or lose. Pep, energy, and good school spirit were important characteristics possessed by each girl.

This year the cheerleaders taught them many new cheers as the members worked on the motions to go with them. They showed what could be done with team work—by giving us better school spirit and sportsmanship.

Thank You

Our thanks go to Mr. J. L. Cobb and Miss Katherine E. Warren, Principal and Assistant Principal, who helped in so many ways. Margo Petry and Mrs. Odessa Parker; Mr. R. L. Walter of the S. B. Newman Printing Co.; Pogues Photographic Studios; Osborne's Photographic Laboratories; Paul Roner of Royloc Studios and others from faculty and student body who cooperated.

On the pages following are found the names of many of the friends of Newport High School and their places of business. Their support is greatly appreciated by the school, the staff and their advisor—They are your neighbors and friends, patronize them.
